FOUR KILLED IN WRECK ON SOUTHERN RAILWAY

Four persons were killed and more than 26 injured when the Royal Palm, northbound train No. 2, the crack train of the Southern Railway System, was wrecked just north of New River, Tenn., Wednesday afternoon at 2:40 o'clock.

The engine and tender and three coaches were overturned and three of the Pullman cars were derailed. None of the train crew was killed, all of the fatalities having been among the passengers.

The wreck was one of the most disastrous in the history of the Southern Railway. It is believed to have been caused by the buckling of rails. The scene of the wreck is about 130 miles south of Lexington.

The dead are: F. E. Cook, Orion, Mich.; E. J. Bussey, Detroit, Mich.; F. Rammich, Detroit, Mich.; W. M. Parks, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Mrs. Lillie King, of Opera Place, Cincinnati, O., is known to have suffered a wrenched back and H. Demming, 21099 Colerain avenue, Cincinnati, was cut about the face, head and lips.

Joe Kramer, of Chicago, Ill., and Harry Sickie, of St. Mary's, O., also were slightly injured. Names of any of the other passengers who were injured could not be learned.

The Royal Palm, which is due in Lexington at 6:35 o'clock was enroute from Jacksonville to Cincinnati when the wreck occurred. The train which is one of the safest and best equipped on the Southern system was loaded with tourists returning from Florida.

The train was carrying through Pullman cars for Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, and Toledo, in addition to the regular day coaches. Most of the passengers were from points north of the Ohio river, the Pullmans containing other passengers being carried on the Ohio Special, which follows the Royal Palm.

The train from all indications was running on schedule when the wreck occurred as it was not due in Lexington until 6:35 o'clock Wednesday night.

When news of the wreck was received at division headquarters at Somerset and Harrison Junction, Tenn., all available physicians and nurses were immediately summoned and started for the scene.

JAIL BREAKER RETURNED TO COUNTY BASTILE

Robert Green, colored, who was indicted by the grand jury on the charges of housebreaking, grand larceny, carrying concealed deadly weapons and jailbreaking, was arrested several days ago in Cincinnati and brought back to Paris by Chief of Police Link.

Green made his escape from the Paris jail in February by scaling the wall and dropping to the ground below. In the fall he broke the bones of one foot, it was learned afterward. In spite of this handicap he managed to make a clean get away, and was not heard of until a few days ago, when he applied at the Cincinnati General Hospital for treatment. It was discovered that gangrene had set in. He was suspected as being the man wanted here for jailbreaking, and Chief of Police Link was notified. Link made a trip to Cincinnati, and identified Green, who at that time was in too bad a condition to be removed. He was later in the week brought to Paris. He is still in a serious condition, and physicians are of the opinion his foot may have to be amputated. Green's trial will come up at the June term of the Bourbon Circuit Court.

CAR TURNS TURTLE

While driving on the Paris and Lexington pike, a short distance out of Paris, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Florence Cook and a party of friends from Georgetown, escaped serious injury when their car overturned in passing another on the road.

The party had been to Paris, attending the Billy Sunday meeting, and returning. Mrs. Cook, who was driving, ran too near the edge of the road and the car dropped over the edge of an embankment, turning over twice in its descent. Mrs. Cook and her guests, Mrs. Ella Parker, Mrs. Minnie Sandifer, Mrs. Rilla Godey and Miss Allen Kimbrough, were pinned under the car until passersby extricated them. Mrs. Sandifer sustained a sprained ankle and was cut about the forehead, and Mrs. Parker received a cut on chin. The occupants were able to proceed on their journey after having their car righted.

SPRING STYLE SHOW SCORES A BIG HIT

In the parlance of the stage, the big Spring Style Show, inaugurated Tuesday and Wednesday by enterprising merchants of Paris, "scored a big hit." The Show was a success in every particular, and received a well-merited meed of praise from the big audience that packed the Paris Grand both nights.

Did the men go to the Style Show? Did they? We say they did. They were there in numbers and seemed to enjoy every bit of it. The women were certain to go anyhow, because anything relative to fashions and style naturally appeals to them, and a style show is the very apotheosis of attire. But, since the announcements were made that the merchants would have some very startling displays in women's and men's attire, the women had to fight their way in and take their chances through a crowd of men. Clothes attract women. What is more or less inside of clothes attracts the men. This is a combination which does credit to the mythological instinct of Paris merchants. The Style Show was a success because it was so destined from the very start.

When the doors of the Grand were opened Tuesday night for the first performance there was a veritable stampede and in a short while the house was filled from pit to dome, and standing room at a premium. Even window seats were seized on as points of vantage. Anticipation was at a high pitch, and the feminine portion of the audience could hardly wait for that part of the program where the fashions would be the leading feature.

Following the overture by Gregg's Orchestra, and the picture feature, Pathe News, the first part of the fashion reviews was rung up, being a display of sport clothes. The gowns and suits were displayed by the following: Mr. Leach, representing I. L. Price & Co., Miss Scott, representing C. S. Goldstein, Mr. Sutton, representing Mitchell & Blakemore, Miss Kash, representing The Leader Store, Mr. Mitchell, representing Jos. W. Davis & Co., Miss Hayden, representing C. S. Goldstein, Mr. Mullen, representing The Leader Store. The gowns and suits displayed were artistic creations and won the instant applause and approbation of the audience.

The stage settings were furnished by The J. T. Hinton Co., shoes by Harry Linville and Posner Bros., athletic equipment by Daugherty Bros., and silver ware by the A. J. Winters Co. The second part featured street and afternoon dresses and men's business suits. In this act the outstanding feature was a dance charmingly executed by a dainty little miss, Pauline Davis, of Lexington, whose clever interpretation and graceful dancing won the hearty and spontaneous applause of the audience, compelling several encores. John Craig, son of Mrs. Catherine Davis Craig, and Miss Helen Frances Farmer, daughter of Mrs. Frank Farmer, of Paris, furnished an edifying and appreciative stunt in the program by their exposition of children's style, sharing honors with the principals. The remainder of the program was made up of a six-reel motion picture, "Clothes," and a display of evening gowns and suits, and a dance in evening clothes by Miss Kash and Mr. Leach.

Wednesday's offerings found equally as large a crowd present to enjoy the proceedings. The program was composed of motion pictures, "Topics of the Day," comedy, "A Seminary Scandal," and "Clothes," displays of street clothes and men's business suits; afternoon dresses and men's Palm Beach suits; dance by Miss Kash and Mr. Leach.

VICTORY MEDALS FOR FORMER SERVICE MEN

Postmaster J. Walter Payne has received notice from the Victory Medal Department, in Louisville, that Victory Medals are now ready for distribution to the ex-service men of Paris and Bourbon county. All who have not received a Victory Medal are asked to write to the Victory Medal Department, Room 510, P. O. Building, Louisville, Ky. All ex-service men who were in the service between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, are entitled to one of these medals. The notice to Mr. Payne reads as follows:

"The War Department has invested this office with the responsibility of distributing 85,000 Victory Medals to the ex-service men of the World War in Kentucky, and desires that we secure the co-operation of the Kentucky press and postmasters in announcing this issue.

"PEACEFUL VALLEY" CAST IN CAPABLE HANDS

A large audience greeted the presentation of the playlet, "Peaceful Valley," at the Paris High School auditorium, last night, by members of the Senior Class, under the supervision of Prof. Edward Saxon, of Transylvania College, Lexington.

The members of the cast producing the playlet carried their parts through with true dramatic attention and details, and each did his or her best to make the presentation all that had been predicted.

The production was so well rendered that no individual can be given especial mention. The scenes in the first act were laid in the Ayrton House, in the White Mountains, at the home and perpendicular farm of Hosea Howe, in the second act, and in Mrs. Howe's "best room" in the third act. The cast of characters was as follows:

Hosea Howe, man of the mountains—Clairborne Lisle.
Jotham Ford, hotel keeper—Jim McClintock.
Ward Andrews—Raymond Stamper.

Leonard Rand, merchant prince—Cletis Evans.

Charley Rand—his son—James M. Dundon.

Jack Fragarhar—Ussery Wilder.

Wilson, a waiter—Collins Hall.

Virgie Rand, worth winning—Josephine Fithian.

Niobe Farghuar, Jack's sister—Hedgie Taylor.

Phillis Howe—Elizabeth Deaver.

Martha, her daughter—Frances Kenney.

The following were patrons for the playlet, which will be given again to-night, at the same place, the curtain rising promptly at 8:15: Mrs. C. M. Clay, regent of Jemima Johnson Chapter, D. A. R.; Mrs. Owen L. Davis, president of the Women's Club; Mrs. Thos. H. Clay, Jr., chairman of the Literary Department of the Women's Club; Miss Lucy Blythe Simms, chairman of the Community Service and Civics Department; Sister Bernadine, St. Mary's School; Mrs. W. G. Talbot, president Richard Hawes Chapter, U. D. of C.; Mrs. H. S. Towler, Christian Science church; Rev. Father Wm. O'Hara, of the Church of The Annunciation; Mrs. James Duncan Bell, Presbyterian church; Mr. and Mrs. James McClure, Methodist church; Silas E. Bedford, Baptist church; Prof. and Mrs. Lee Kirkpatrick; Paris High School; Wm. E. Hacker, secretary Paris Commercial Club; Miss Reba Lockhart, High School faculty; Miriam Galloway, Betsy Helburn and Collins Hall, the student body.

MISS ROFF, PRESIDENT OF CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION

The two-day session of the Kentucky Classical Association, which closed Saturday noon, in Richmond, is considered to have been one of the most successful meetings ever held in Richmond. The organization may now be said to be on a solid basis, although it was organized only last year. It was attended by a number of distinguished teachers from all parts of the State; the treasury shows a healthy surplus; and there were two invitations to the meeting for 1922. The offer of Lexington was accepted, that of Berea having been withdrawn until 1923.

The principal meeting from the point of view of the general public was Friday evening, where Dr. Gordon J. Laing, head of the department of Latin in the University of Chicago, gave his illustrated lecture on "Buried Cities of Roman Africa."

The officers elected for the coming year were: President, Miss Elizabeth M. Roff, Paris; vice president, Miss Mabel Politt, of University of Kentucky; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Wren J. Grinstead, of Eastern Normal, Richmond.

A JOLT FROM FISHER

Editor Warren Fisher, of the Carlisle Mercury, must have had a severe shaking up on Main street, in Paris one or more times in the past. Editor Fisher, in the issue of yesterday, says:

"Concerning the visit of Billy Sunday to Paris THE BOURBON NEWS says: 'Many confessed to a distinct sense of disappointment, as the speaker was apparently not at his best.'"

"Told you the poor fellow wouldn't be fit, after jolting him over the shell-craters out by the Paris warehouses."

HELD TO GRAND JURY

In the County Court, Judge Geo. Batterson heard the case of John Clay, alias "Blue," colored, who was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman George M. Hill. Clay was charged with violation of the prohibition laws and carrying concealed a deadly weapon. He was held to the Grand Jury in the sum of $1,000. Failing to furnish this, he was remanded to the custody of Jailor Tail.

BASE BALL SEASON ON

Spring is here for certain, as baseball practice has begun all over the land. Soon will be heard the cry of the umpire, "Play Ball," and the sons of swat will begin their spring, summer and fall campaign. The big league season will open on April 13, Cincinnati opening with a game at Redland Field.

Locally, the season will officially open next Sunday, when the Centerville, Regulars and the Paris White Sox will meet on the Centerville field. The game will be called promptly at 2:30 p. m. Both teams have been putting in strenuous hours of practice, and a good game is anticipated. The old-time fans of Paris and Bourbon county will attend in a body according to reports from the charmed circle. Many of us upon hearing the old familiar sound of baseballs will sigh for the good old days and fondly turn back the pages of memory to the halcyon days when the Bluegrass League was a prime factor in Central Kentucky sports.

The local team is being coached by H. H. Crider, acting manager. The battery will be composed of Caywood, Barlow and Perkins, all experienced men on the diamond. Barlow is a former member of the Cynthiana team, where he made an excellent record for fast work. Caywood has worked for the past two seasons with a Cincinnati semi-pro team, where he became known as "the slab wonder." Perkins has played on Central Kentucky teams. Until suitable grounds can be secured and arrangements made for a permanent home for the ball-tossers games will be booked for each Sunday outside of Paris. The team that will play at Centerville, Sunday, is composed of the following: Bearman, Barlow, Caywood, Perkins, Breese, Mann, Lancaster, Brewsbaugh, McFarland, Williams, Burnett, H. Johnson, J. Kiser and E. Kiser.

A. R. Cox and E. B. Bogie are organizing the Mt. Sterling base ball club and have begun the work of getting together a first class team. It is understood that they will operate under the name of the local Post of the American Legion and will donate to that organization ten per cent of all gate receipts. Games will be booked with Kentucky teams playing Sunday ball. The club last year was a good paying proposition.

The season will open in Nicholasville, Sunday, with a game between the Nicholasville and Lexington teams, on Evans Field.

COL. EPH LILLARD DEAD IN CHICAGO

A telegram was received in Frankfort, Wednesday night, by relatives announcing the death in Chicago of Col. Eph Lillard. Colonel Lillard was active in Kentucky politics for several years.

He held the position of warden of the penitentiary there and recently was in the office of the State Commissioner of Pensions. He represented Jessamine county at one time in the Legislature.

He is survived by two sons and one daughter and his wife, who was Miss Bettie Noe. The body will be brought to Frankfort for burial. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at the Christian church.

Colonel Lillard was deputy internal revenue collector under Ben Johnson and storekeeper-gauger in the old Louisville Distillery, under Atilla Cox. With the late Col. Jack Chinn he was the late Gov. William Goebel's bodyguard and had just left him when the former Governor was assassinated in front of the old Capitol building during Goebel's campaign.

Lillard, Jack Chinn, and Robert Franklin accompanied Goebel over the State singing, "There's Trouble in the Land."

GUN CLUB TROPHY

A finely finished Winchester shot gun, the trophy to be contested for at the opening of the Bourbon Gun Club's grounds, in this city, is on exhibition in the show window of Mitchell & Blakemore. The trophy is valued at $50.00, and was donated by R. C. Ruggles, of the Ruggles Motor Co., who is an enthusiast. The first shoot will be held on Friday, April 15.

The Club gladly welcomes visiting sportsmen and sportswomen. Special accommodations will be arranged for the comfort of ladies who attend the tournaments.

BOURBON FARMER FILES BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS

At Cynthiana, Tuesday, proceedings in bankruptcy in the case of R. L. Logsdon, Bourbon county farmer, were heard before Referee in Bankruptcy A. M. Cox. Mr. Logsdon was present and was examined by Mr. Cox. County Attorney David D. Cline, of Paris, was appointed as trustee.

In November, 1920, Messrs. Talbott and Cleveland, of Bourbon county sold to Mr. Logsdon about fourteen acres of land for $15,500. By the terms of the contract Mr. Logsdon was to pay $5,000 in cash on March 1, and to execute notes for the balance. When that time arrived Logsdon failed to make the cash payment or execute notes. Talbott and Cleveland filed suit for damages to the extent of $2,500 against Logsdon through their attorneys, Whitley & Talbott. Following this Mr. Logsdon filed proceedings in bankruptcy.

T. PORTER SMITH ANNOUNCES FOR LEGISLATURE

T. Porter Smith, formerly of Paris, who has been a resident of Georgetown for several years, announces in a recent issue of the Georgetown Times his candidacy for Representative from Scott county in the next Legislature.

Mr. Smith will make an excellent legislator for our neighboring county. He is a splendid mixer, and his previous training as an attorney and business man will stand him in good stead in the legislative halls. He has the good wishes of a host of Paris and Bourbon county friends in his aspirations, which they hope may be realized.

PARIS TOBACCO SALES FOR RECENT SEASON

Sales at the six loose leaf tobacco warehouses of Paris, during the season recently closed, reached a total of 10,995,000 pounds according to a semi-official statement given out recently. The official average for the season was $13.00 per hundred pounds.

Due to low prices it was stated that many tenant farmers saw their year's labor swallowed up, and their debts left unpaid, while many landowners who had endorsed payable paper for their tenants likewise were compelled to make it good at the banks. County stores are also holders of large amounts of uncollectable accounts made by tobacco tenants.

IT IS TIME TO "SAW WOOD"

All over the country there has been a slowing down of industries and business in practically all lines; the banks have been unable to supply their customers with the money they needed, and all around there has been what is called "financial stringency."

We have had several years of high pressure business and we had almost forgotten how it used to be when business was normal and everybody felt that they had to get right down to "brass tacks" in all lines of endeavor. All of us have been affected, more or less, by the trend towards carelessness and a "devil may care spirit."

During the last five or six years everybody seemed to forget their previous hardships; we all went around like the proverbial "drunken sailor"; nothing seemed to remind us that it could not go on indefinitely.

Now it is time to "saw wood;" we have reached the stage where we cannot "keep the pot boiling" except by adding some new wood to the fire. There you have the whole story.

It is up to each one of us to get busy and produce something of real value, if we are going to stay in the game. This applies to the employer as well as the employee.

Most of us are now fully awake to the dangers before us and a good many have already started to "saw wood." There are, however, still many who have not yet decided how they can get into the new trend of things in the best way.

To them this warning is sounded! Don't hesitate too long, or some other fellow who is more active, will come along and grasp the opportunity you have failed to see.

For this is certain: There is an opportunity for you right at hand. You can improve your conditions right now, if you will pay the price. You can better your circumstances, whatever they are, if you are willing to get right down to business and "saw wood."

"Sawing wood" is hard work, that is admitted; at first the unusual exercise of the muscles causes soreness and it takes a little time to get the habit of regular, persistent plugging. After a while we forget all these things, and then it is an easy task to "saw a cord of wood."

The time is past for seeking the "soft snap;" they have disappeared. The "soft snap" is no good anyway, when you do happen to find one, for there is more enjoyment in hard, productive work than there is in a well paid loafing job.

Now then, "let's saw wood;" let's all do our best to produce. Let's do all we can to produce better goods, better newspapers, better advertising, and by all means let us determine that whatever we do shall be well done.

Don't let the pessimist scare you from development; don't be too timid to undertake new enterprise; make use of all the natural advantages provided by labor saving, time saving and profit-producing devices the market affords and make the best of all your opportunities.

Physical Training Helps Pupils.

There is one school in New York which has perhaps given more attention to the matter of physical training than any other and accurate records which have been kept show that the boys and girls of this institution are five pounds heavier than those of the same grades in other schools.

Limit of Superstition.

The Scottish fishermen are among the most superstitious folk in the world. One of their peculiar beliefs is that it is unlucky to pronounce either their own or other people's names during the fishing season.—Brooklyn Eagle.

SAVED BY RABBIT

Lucky Catch Preserved Lives of Surveyors.

On the Verge of Starvation in Canadian Wilds, Small Creature Was Godsend to Men and Dogs.

The flying survey that the engineers of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway made through the unexplored forests and mountains of Canada was attended by all manner of hardships and adventures. It is remarkable that so few men lost their lives, for the work, which was pushed forward winter and summer, was always filled with dangers. An experience related in Mr. F. A. Talbot's book, "The Making of a Great Canadian Railway," affords a graphic idea of the pains and penalties that many surveyors endured in that silent, unpopulated country.

In the depths of winter I was out with one of the surveyors on an exploration trip. We had four dogs and a couple of sleighs not heavily laden. Somehow or other, owing to the blinding snow, we were delayed and lost our way. The dogs had to go without food and we ourselves did not taste a bite for three days; nor did we catch sight of the smallest specimen of game. One thing after another was thrown off the sleighs to ease the plight of the dogs, grown so thin from want of food that their ribs showed through their skins. Only our sleeping bags were retained. Through the day we stumbled along on our snowshoes, constantly falling over obstacles and bruising ourselves against the trees. At night we lay down by our camp fire, utterly exhausted and faint from hunger and cold.

It was on the third morning that I detected the faint footprints of a jack rabbit. It was the first sign of game that we had seen for three days. I drew my companion's attention to the tracks.

"Stop right here and light a fire. We'll have something to eat this morning or else I won't come back again!" I cried excitedly as I grabbed my gun. I sped off with my eyes glued to those scarcely discernible footprints. But it was weary tracking; the trail was as elusive a will-o'-the-wisp as anyone could find in the forest. For three solid hours I followed it relentlessly, stumbling and falling wildly, bruising my shins and tearing my hands through the bush.

At last it disappeared into a willow shrub. Crawling up warily, I searched the thicket, and there spied the quarry. Fearful that in my excitement I might take too hurried an aim with my rifle, miss, frighten, and lose the animal, I crawled steadily forward on my hands and knees. When within an arm's reach I made a sudden spring and caught it by the scruff of the neck. In a trice it was dead; but I had captured a sorry prize. Like ourselves, it was in sore need of food, for it could obtain but slender sustenance from the snow-covered ground.

I retraced my footsteps as hurriedly as I could. I found my comrade sitting before the fire holding his head in his hands between his knees—an abject picture of misery and despair.

In a few minutes the rabbit was skinned and spitting merrily on an improvised roasting jack. The skin was cut into four equal parts and given to the dogs. They devoured it ravenously. Not an atom of that rabbit was wasted. The little bit of food put new life into us and we pressed on through the forest until finally we reached our camp.

Repairing Stonehenge.

Stonehenge, the prehistoric group of huge standing stones near Salisbury, in southern England, has been set in order, for the first time in three or four thousand years. A single stone was straightened in 1901, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, but a thorough overhauling was made impossible by the government and during the war was the center of a large, permanent encampment. Artillery range and mine experiment stations were established close enough to jar the uprights and the remaining lintels. One lintel was moved outward to such a degree that it became a menace to visitors. The government put up cranes and winches to restore that stone and has set firm the stones that are still erect.

Kept on the Keen Jump.

"I reckon you had a right lively time in Kansas City?" insinuated an acquaintance.

"Tollable," replied Gabe Gosnell of Grudge, "but nothing like what I probably would have had if I wasn't considerable lively on my feet. You see, up in Kay See, if you meet a respectable-looking man after 4 o'clock in the afternoon, anywhere the least bit off to one side, he's a hold-up and robs you."

"And if you meet one that don't look respectable, he's a plain clothes policeman, and pounds you because he thinks you're a hold-up. So I was practically on the keen jump all the time I was there, dodging the one or the other."—Kansas City Star.

Fine Pictures of the Aurora.

In the last 10 years, Prof. Carl Störmer, in Norway, has obtained more than 300 successful pairs of simultaneous pictures of the aurora, besides 200 single pictures, and the brilliant display of March 22-23 last was photographed at seven stations, separated from 16 to 55 miles. A height of more than 300 miles is indicated for the last aurora, no earlier measurement having reached 200 miles.

Head's State Drive To Feed Chinese

DR. MULLINS is chairman in Kentucky for the China Famine Fund. This campaign which was launched by President Wilson, is to raise money to feed the 40,000,000 Chinese now facing death from starvation.

FATHER POISONS HIS STARVING CHILDREN

Kentuckian Receives Letter From China Telling of the Horrible Famine Conditions There

40,000,000 FACE DEATH

So dreadful are the famine conditions in China, a father poisoned his family to save them from the suffering of starvation. The 40,000,000 people who face starvation now are beginning to die from the dreaded typhus.

These conditions are described in a letter to the Rev. Dr. E. Y. Mullins, Louisville, chairman for Kentucky of the China Famine Fund, and also are told in the report of the American Minister at Peking sent to President Wilson. The campaign to save these people from starvation was launched by the President.

10,000,000 Are Children.

The American Minister states that of this number, 15,000,000 are subsisting on dry leaves and 10,000,000 of them are children.

Dr. Mullins says this famine is the greatest since the one in 1876 when "the world stood aghast at the death of millions by starvation and cold. The horrors of that year are at our very doors," he said.

The area involved is larger than France and embraces Shantung, Shansi, Chihli and Honan.

A missionary in a letter received yesterday by Dr. Mullins, says:

"This dreadful famine follows five years of crop failures. Millions of men, women and children are eating the last of their dry leaves. The winters here are very cold but these people have no fuel—they depend on leaves and gleaning stalks to heat their huts—they have neither."

Typhus Upon Them.

"This appeal is not ours but theirs. I passed from Tchow to Tientsin, there was only barrenness, wheat had been sown in some few spots, but it is a long wait until harvest time and now typhus is upon us."

"I found one very pathetic case. The cow that had kept the family alive for months, failed to give milk for lack of feed. She had to be sold for a trifle. The father prepared a good meal of 'Boodsi,' dumplings for his family. His little daughter asked how it was that they were having such good food after weeks of hunger. After they had eaten, he told them that he had put poison in each dumpling and all would soon be out of their misery. He could not bear to see them starve and they were dead when I arrived."

"Please send money for these poor human beings. The railroad into Manchuria will haul wheat free of charge but we haven't enough money to buy the wheat."

Dr. Mullins has sent an appeal to the clergy of Kentucky to relate the experiences of this missionary. Joseph Burge, treasurer of the Famine Fund, sends the funds to China through the State Department at Washington.

GOVERNORS SEE BRIGHTER BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

Governors throughout the country, whose vision extends beyond the confines of their own borders, sound a sane, conservative and optimistic note for the near future of business in brief messages which they have written especially for the American Industries.

Most of them are confident that the country has passed safely through the critical days of the readjustment period that was bound to follow in the wake of the war.

They express the happy satisfaction, that while there was bound to be a certain measure of unemployment and other disturbing conditions, that the nation is now on its way toward complete industrial recovery. They believe the confidence with which the business men and the public faced and solved the situation is another evidence of America's capacity to meet great emergencies.

Governor Morrow, of Kentucky, wrote as follows: "Business conditions in Kentucky are already beginning to show a marked improvement. There was a period of depression. It has begun to pass away. By mid-summer or fall, Kentucky will be again in its old stride. There is a general spirit of rapid come-back throughout the entire State."

FORECASTING SPRING

This lovely frock of gray-crepe-de-chine may be taken as a criterion of the spring styles for afternoon wear. It fulfills all the requirements of the mode, beginning with the most important, and that is simplicity. It has a slip-over bodice, fastening on the shoulder, a long tunic laid in plaits and a plain underskirt. Between the high and the low waistline it chooses the latter and makes a compromise between long and short sleeves with the three-quarter length, flaring style. Spring is written in all its details but emphasized in the eyelet embroidery and silk disks that make up its decorations. The odd opening at the front, which distinguishes this dress, revealing a little button-trimmed vestee of lace, is a feature of the new styles. Often it glimpses a bright color.

An All-British Bird.

The red grouse—probably the most sporting bird that flies—has never been known to nest outside the limits of the British Isles. This bird flourishes in every Scottish county and in most counties of Ireland and Wales. In England the grouse thrives only as far south as Derbyshire, all attempts to stock more southern districts, even when apparently suitable for the purpose, having proved failures, though some grouse survived for quite a long time after such an experiment in the Thetford district.

Irish Poplin Supreme.

Ireland leads the world in the manufacture of poplin and, although most of the silk used is of foreign manufacture, the Dublin weavers treat it in such a manner as to make Irish poplin a distinct fabric. It is composed of worsted made from the finest wool, and silk in combination, and no makers but the Irish seem to be able to produce the softness of texture and brilliance of coloring that is so characteristic of the best poplin. This is attributed to the peculiarity of the Dublin water and the skill and knowledge of the makers.

Value of Home Experience.

"The middle-aged mothers who have successfully managed large homes and sent out their children as good citizens have proven that such training is invaluable in any national or public work." Any work requiring intricate knowledge and care of detail can be handled by such women just as well as by the younger women who we have been led to believe are the only leaders of the "new race," says a writer in the Independent Woman. "The middle-aged woman has countless opportunities for world usefulness."

Orang-Outang Mianamed.

Occasionally the underbrush (southeastern Borneo) crashed beneath the tread of some heavy animal—a rhinoceros perhaps or possibly an orang-utan. I might add, parenthetically, that orang-utan means, in the Malay language, "man of the forest," while orang-outang, the name which we carelessly apply to the great anthropoid, means "man in debt."—E. Alexander Powell in Scribner's Magazine.

Couldn't See It That Way.
As the Mojave prospector remarked when he was hotly pursued by an enraged lady bear whose cubs he had disturbed: "I find that the old copy-book matter, 'Be chaste and you will be happy,' has some blatin' exceptions."—Los Angeles Times.

OUR HONORABLE ORDER OF OPTIMISTS

Optimism is the happy knack of being able to see a rose where most folks would see a cabbage. Out in Kansas City they have an organization known as the Optimist Club, which is composed of enterprising business men of the hustling "show me" state. Such an idea is worth imitation by the men of every community in the United States. One who always hopes for the best is an optimist. But in business, men and women, should do more than merely hope; they should work their best to obtain worth-while results. Webster gives several enlightening meanings of the word "optimist." We have all read and enjoyed humorous definitions on the screen in "Topics of the Day" films at our favorite theatre. Have you a disposition to take the most hopeful view and outlook on the brightest side of things? Well, join our Optimists' Club by laughing at the following quips presented by THE BOURBON NEWS:

An optimist is a man who expects to raise vegetables like those pictured in the seed catalogues.—New York Sun.

An optimist is a fellow who will go out riding in his auto without taking along an extra tire.—Toledo Weekly Blade.

Private individual who tactfully obeys the commands of General Public; is hand in hand with Colonel Co-operation; keeps in step with Major Operations; is conversant with Captain O'Industry; is able to face Lieutenant Lmelight; shuns Sergeant Shortightedness; never approaches Corporal Punishment; is Buddy to each Buck Private in the American Army of workers; is indeed Commander-in-Chief of his own earthly happiness; and above all is an Optimist.—Rutgers Neilson.

An optimist is a "Johnny" who promises to buy a chorus girl a motor car and expects her to pick out a Ford.—Vaudeville News.

An optimist is a man who, every time he sees a meal served in the movies, picks his teeth and tips the ushers a quarter.—Film Fun.

He must be an optimist who can continue to sing "Home Sweet Home" after the rent has been raised six times.—Boston Shoe and Leather Reporter.

An optimist is a man who will buy hair restorer from a bald-headed barber.—Rutgers Neilson.

An optimist can always see the bright side of the other fellow's misfortune.—Richmond, Va., News-Reader.

An optimist is a man who can make lemonade out of the lemons that are handed him.—Portland, Me., Express.

AUNT WIN

By LUCRETIA M. GARDNER

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Want to get up, Tom? This is the tenth time you have brushed against my dress. You ought to know better. This isn't any time of day to beg me to take you up; dishes not washed, nothing done. But come along!" And the frail little lady suited the action to her words and lifted the sturdy matinee into her lap.

"I am just as blue as a whetstone, Tom," she said, "and I ought not to be, for that was as good a sermon as I ever heard preached. Just balled down common sense, and there ought not to be any dregs left to worry my soul. You can't say anything, can you, Tom, but you're purring like a music box."

A sudden knock sounded at the door, was followed by a girl's voice.

"It's only Molly, Aunt Win." Then when the frail little lady drew the bolt, the young voice exclaimed: "Why, I never knew you to bolt the door at this time of day. Are you sick?"

Molly rushed across the threshold, gave Aunt Win a hearty hug, then looking at the table in the living room, with its barely touched food, said:

"You must be sick for you have not eaten a bite for dinner."

"Sit down, child," Aunt Win answered quietly, "I was just talking with Tom and wondering what the matter was with me."

"That was a tip-top sermon, wasn't it, Aunt Win? It just made me sit up and take notice, but you didn't need to take it to heart," Molly said, patting her listener's cheek.

"Dear child, that's just it! Of course," Aunt Win explained, "when it comes to making a loaf of cake or knitting, to help my church I do my mite, but—" a pause emphasized by the solemn ticking of the tall clock, and then, "but, Molly, when it's a case of dollars and cents I haven't any to give, and yet I love my church and what it stands for as dearly as anyone in this place. Why shouldn't I? It has helped me when everything was swept from me, and isn't that a test? I have found my faith fit to live by and expect to die by it when my call comes."

"Perhaps this dreary dark day has upset you," suggested the girl, "but you aren't ever blue. Let's pile on the wood. Oh, these beauty andirons! You polished them yesterday, I know."

A sudden gleam flitted across the shining tops, and seemed to bring an illuminating thought to Aunt Winifred. She choked back a sigh and half sob, then sank into the nearest chair while Molly put on fresh logs. In a trembling voice the little lady said:

"These are very precious andirons, they are more than 100 years old and were given to my great-grandmother in payment for teaching Maria Hussey's children at Cent school."

"Cent school?" repeated Molly in surprise. "What on earth was a Cent school?"

"That was long before your generation, dear, when little children were taught the three Rs by dear old ladies and carried their cents in corners of their handkerchiefs to pay. I set my eyes by these andirons." She murmured as if alone in the room, "Can I do it? Can I make up my mind to do it?"

Molly glanced up suddenly at Aunt Winifred. Was she just right in her mind? she wondered.

"Oh, don't worry, I'm not out of my head, child, but these andirons have preached me a sermon, too. Do you know Mrs. James has been wild to buy them, and now I've made up my mind I'll sell them for $15—would you, say?"

"Fifteen?—nothing of the kind. Why?" exclaimed Molly, "you're not a bit of a trader. They are worth $50. But, oh, dear, how can you part with them? What will you do without them? How keep warm?"

"Have a fire in the air-tight and forget them. Fifty, do you say? Then," Aunt Win added breathlessly, "I'll give $50 to my church and $20 to the Red Cross in memory of our Will, dear, dear boy!"

Then fell the first tears as Aunt Win's thoughts sped across the seas to a lonely grave in the Argonne.

"I just hate, dear Aunt Win, to have you give them up," murmured Molly once more.

"Sh—not a word! I'll just go to work and rid up these dishes."

"Yes," interrupted Molly, "and if you really mean it I'll have John take them over to Mrs. James this afternoon or tomorrow."

"No, no, the quicker the better!" Aunt Winifred bustled around so briskly that Molly felt the spirit of the hour and said:

"I'll slip away now, before John goes for the afternoon."

She appreciated the situation, and by 4 o'clock the andirons of blessed memories no longer shone on the hearth, but in Aunt Win's hand at the close of the day lay a check for $50, and wiping away the unbidden tears she murmured:

"More precious than my andirons is my Faith, and all that it has meant to me and mine."

"BUILD A HOME"

Nobody becomes a full fledged citizen, observes the Frankfort State Journal, till he has experienced home ownership. The possession of a home interests a man in many affairs of the community in which he has little interest prior to binding himself to the soil and the social structure by home ownership.

Naturally the dealers in building supplies advocate home building in the interest of business, but nevertheless all students of social welfare advocate it from motives wholly disinterested and the difficulties of the last half dozen years have created a house shortage which makes home building more and more of a business proposition than it was when houses for rent were more plentiful than renters for houses.

Whether building supplies are as low as they will be in 1922 nobody knows, but they are decidedly lower than they were in 1920, and the family which needs a home in 1921 has a long time to wait if it must wait till that indefinite time when everyone will say building materials have reached the bed rock price.

NOVEL STYLE IN SUIT

For those who are looking for something entirely new, suits like that shown above are provided in the spring displays in which capes or cape-like overgarments or blouses with short close-fitting peplums take the place of the regulation suit coat. This new idea has been worked out with fine success in the model pictured.

Guatemala.

Guatemala has an area of 48,290 square miles, slightly larger than that of the state of New York. It has a population of about 2,000,000, which is approximately 40 per cent of the entire population of Central America. A large part of the population of Guatemala is of Indian blood, unmixed with the blood of Europeans. In this respect Guatemala differs from its four neighboring republics, in three of which the majority of the population is of mixed blood, and in one of which the Indians were exterminated.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Read the Dictionary.

Reading the dictionary is not a popular indoor sport, but it might well become the habit of any man who likes entertainment and information coming hand in hand. The dictionary, of course, must be unabridged, and not devoted solely to spelling and brief definitions such as are found in the small and incomplete editions! Two or three pages, selected at random, will be found to contain a surprising amount of interesting fact and comment for any man, no matter how learned he may be.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Quirks of Children's Minds.

A correspondent informs us that we did not quite complete our story about the little girl whose version of the national anthem was "My country teases me." He says she followed it with "Arthur of liberty." He adds: "And a close second to this is the following quotation from the twenty-third Psalm by another little miss, 'Surely the good Mrs. Murphy will follow me all the days of my life.'"—Boston Transcript.

Furniture Cleaner.

Home-made furniture cleaner can be made by adding one tablespoonful of turpentine and three tablespoonfuls of linseed or lemon oil to one quart of boiling water. When cool enough to be comfortable to the hand, use as a wash water on all furniture except white enamel. Soft cheesecloth for wash cloth and a dry piece for a soft wiping cloth will give the good polish of clean wood. There being no varnish in the mixture, the furniture will not be sticky from this cleaner.

First Roller Skates Crude.

The first roller skates patented were made in London in 1823. These and other models brought out later could be guided in curves only at the expense of enormous friction. It was not until 1865 that an American brought out a roller skate that made curves and figures such as those possible on ice skates.

Names Somewhat Misleading.

Cleopatra's needles were not erected by Cleopatra nor in honor of that queen, but by Thothmes III. Pompey's pillar in Alexandria, was erected by the Emperor Diocletian, according to inscription, and has nothing to do with Pompey.

LUCKY STRIKE cigarette

HERE'S A HARD ONE TO BEAT

From down in Pulaski county comes the story of a distressed cow who suffered an obscure ailment which baffled veterinarians. Throat trouble, of aggravated form, was indicated, but the symptoms did not agree with any diagnosis they were familiar with or had read about. The cow might be suffering yet, or even have passed over the river, except for the inspiration of a small boy, utterly unskilled in the treatment of sick cows, but gifted with an ingrowing curiosity. Impelled by this, he investigated the animal's throat from the inside, with his hand, while the servants were consulting among themselves.

When he pulled his hand from the cow's throat he also pulled a sizeable "terrapin" (called "trapin" farther down south) in it. The cow was relieved at once, and after coughing two or three times appeared restored again to normal good health and the joy of living. By way of gratitude she licked the boy's neck and then tried to swallow his cap. Foiled in this she moved sedately away, after the manner of cows, with her head toward the ground, probably in search of a groundhog—for this was on the second of February—for her evening meal.

The boy looked at the doctors and laughed. The doctors looked at the boy and scowled. Neither said anything. There was nothing to say.—Wilmore Enterprise.

Hygienic Sleeping Rooms.

A sun-bath, at frequent intervals, is effective in keeping the bedding healthy, sweet and wholesome. To this is added, of course, daily airing of the bed-clothes for not less than two hours. Elderdown quilts, though tempting to the eye of the housewife, are not as hygienic a covering as the more easily washed woolen blankets. As at least a third of our lives is spent in the bedroom it behooves us to see that it is clean, airy and hygienic, otherwise refreshing sleep will be impossible, and health will suffer.

Renew your health by purifying your system with

Quick and delightful relief for biliousness, colds, constipation, headaches, and stomach, liver and blood troubles.

How Can the Templin Paint Store Sell Such Good Paints At So Low Prices? We Will Tell You Why

Our overhead expenses are much less than many others who sell paint, and we buy our goods in quantity lots and discount our bills for same. We share this profit with you.

We sell the EAGLE brand of white lead, and ARCHIE DANIELS and SPENCER KELLOGUE & SONS pure line seed oil. Ask your painter if these are not the very best of their kind.

If it were not so, we would not have as our regular customers such painters as—

ROBT. TURNER, McPHERSON & BONTA, LUTHER SMITH, SRAKE & OWSLEY, O. FEEBACK, A. ZORNES,

G. PATTERSON, J. THROCKMORTON, W. S. JOHNSON, RICHARDSON & HORNE, G. M. TURNER, JAS. HORTON.

And many others who know good paint and where to find it.

The handling and selling of paint is our business, and we devote our entire time and energy to this work, and if you contemplate doing any painting this Spring or Summer, and we can be of any assistance to you in the way of suggestions as to the best kinds of paints and colors suitable for either old or new work, or if you should like to have an estimate as to the probable cost of any work in our line, we will be pleased to have you call by card or phone, and we will be at your service to assist you in any way we can.

We carry a full line of Paints, Oils and Varnishes in our store on South Main Street, near the Bourbon Lumber Co.'s yards, and can and WILL save you money if you will give us the opportunity.

BOURBON FISCAL COURT

The April term of the Bourbon Fiscal Court convened yesterday, with Judge George Batterton presiding, and the following Magistrates present: Fretwell, Thomason, Burris, Stephenson, Wiggins, Shropshire and Turner. A large number of claims against the county were allowed and ordered paid. The report of the Road Engineer for March was received and accepted. An ad valorem tax for 1921 was adopted as follows: Court house bonds, two cents; pikes and bridges, twenty-five cents; general purposes twenty-three cents; poll tax on each male inhabitant, over twenty-one years of age, $1.50. An ad valorem tax of twenty-five cents on all property for State purposes outside of the city of Paris, the Little Rock Graded School district, and the North Middletown School district, for school purposes, and a poll tax of $1.00 was ordered. An appropriation of $500 was made toward Kentucky Children's Home Society. The County Treasurer was authorized to sell $50,000 in road bonds. The County Attorney was authorized to employ an expert accountant to audit the books of the Road Commissioner, County Treasurer and Sheriff. Wallace Mitchell, of the Farmers' and Traders' Bank, was elected County Treasurer for a term of four years.

OFFICERS CHASE SUSPECT

A telegram received here Wednesday night from railroad officials at Winchester by the local police department stated that six hobos were on a northbound L. & N. freight train, and asked for their arrest. Chief Link and Patrolman Judy went to the South Paris yards and discovered the men who ran in different directions. Patrolman Judy fired one shot at one of the fleeing men, but failed to stop him. Two men giving their names as James Smith, of Canton, Ohio, and John McDonald, of Cincinnati, were placed under arrest. It was thought they may have been connected with a hold-up which took place in Mt. Sterling a few days ago.

FLUSHING WATER MAINS

Employees of the Paris Water Company were busy Wednesday night flushing out the street mains and testing fire hydrants on all the streets. The flow of muddy water through the streets impelled a local wag to remark that "Certainly something about the water that needed flushing."

BOURBON CIRCUIT COURT

Bessie Evans, Executrix, Etc., Plaintiff.

Vs.—Notice of Sale.

George Cantrill, Etc., Defendants

Under and by virtue of a judgment and order of sale rendered at the March Term, 1921, of the Bourbon Circuit Court in the above styled action therein pending, the undersigned Master Commissioner will, on at the front door of the Court House, in Paris, Kentucky, at about the hour of 11 o'clock a. m., sell at public outcry to the highest and best bidder the following described property:

Thursday, April 21, 1921,

That certain house and lot of ground situated in the City of Paris, Kentucky, on Second Street, fronting on said street about 62 feet, more or less, and extending back between parallel lines a distance of 208 feet, more or less, to the property of Mrs. Kate Wilson, and adjoining the property of P. M. Heller on one side and the property of A. A. Pogue on the other, and being the same property conveyed to Sidney Evans by Marcus S. Evans by deed of record in the office of the Clerk of the Bourbon County Court, in Deed Book —, Page —, and filed herewith.

Said house is a one-story frame, consisting of six rooms with all modern conveniences.

Said sale will be made upon the credits of six and twelve months, the purchaser or purchasers being required to execute their two bonds with good and approved surety for equal parts of the purchase money, each due six and twelve months from date of sale respectively and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum from date of sale until paid.

The shares of the infant defendants, Frances Cantrill, Nell Cantrill, Susan Cantrill and Everett Cantrill, each being a one-tenth interest, shall not be paid by the purchaser, but shall remain a lien upon the land and draw six per cent (6%) interest from date of sale until paid, until the guardian executes bond as required by law, or until the infants become twenty-one years of age.

Said sale is made for the purpose of a division among the parties interested.

GROCERY COMPANY PLACED IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

The Parrakeet Grocery Company, a co-operative concern, which has been doing business in the old Taylor & Jordan stand, at the corner of Main and Tenth streets, for several months, was closed Monday, when the business was placed in the hands of a receiver.

The Company was organized here with local capitalists as financiers and with local management. Some time after it was sold to a Louisville concern. The original owners bought the business of Taylor & Jordan, which succeeded the firm of Baird & Taylor.

Cutting a Wide Swath

"Cutting a wide swath" in any walk of life means that you must have good blood, steady nerves and strength in reserve.

Chatham, Va.—"I was so weak and run-down last spring that I could not work two hours without sitting down in the field and resting. I sent and got a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, it did me so much good that I sent for three more bottles. After taking them I felt like a new man. I do believe that if it had not been for this medicine I would have had to give up work."—J. R. TATE, R. F. D. 3.

Hawks Migrate En Bloc.

The autumn migration of hawks is made partly en bloc, a large proportion of the total population of several Northern species appearing and passing southward at certain more or less definite times. Often one "wave" of the birds will follow a period of quiescence, which will be in turn succeeded by another wave.

Not a Favorite.

Says an exchange: "The man who imagines he has no equal must lead a very lonely life." He does, brother, for few people care for his society.—Boston Transcript.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

Escape the "Stout" Class

An attractive figure is not a matter of size but of correct proportions. The stout women who are never spoken of as "stout" are those who give a little time and thought to proper corseting.

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets give the wearer an appearance of slenderness. The exclusive Rengo Belt feature gives strength and support where the greatest strain falls—over the abdomen and hips. They have the reputation of being "the most economical reducing corsets ever devised."

FIND INDIAN CHIEF'S GRAVE

He Was Buried Long Ago in Kansas With All His Worldly Possessions.

Liberal, Kan.—The last resting place of an Indian chieftain and his horse have been unearthed by O. E. Hinds, a farmer near Floris, in the sandhills along the Beaver.

He had been sent off to the "happy hunting grounds," with apparently all his worldly possessions. The skeleton was wrapped in a blanket of heavy texture, apparently once of brightest colors. Beneath the human skeleton was that of a horse, which had been interred with full accoutrements—saddle, bridle and numerous trinkets with which Indians were accustomed to decorate their favorite mounts.

On the wrist of the man's skeleton was a large bracelet made of many coils of metal, about three inches wide and quite heavy. A ring of the same material encompassed one finger. Another bracelet, of more elaborate design, was found among the ornaments, made of metal, rawhide, and many beads, highly ornamented, and shell ornaments also were found. The only weapon was what apparently had once been a sword or spear.

GAS BALKS SAFE CRACKERS

After Working for Hours on Bank Vault They Decamp, Leaving Their Tools Behind.

Mt. Clemens, Mich.—Mustard gas saved the Merchants and Savings bank at Utica a considerable sum of money. After having worked for some hours to reach the interior of the bank vault, three yegs were forced away from their quarry by mustard gas hidden in the recesses of the vault.

An investigation of the interior of the bank found it filled with the fumes of mustard gas. The first door of the vault had been blown away. The mustard gas tubes had been installed ten days ago as a precaution against robbers.

Lieut. Charles Carmody, fingerprint expert of the Detroit police department, was summoned by Sheriff Spalter to make photographs of finger prints on the vault door. Lieut. Carmody is of the opinion that the men are expert cracksmen.

Officers of the sheriff's staff are combing neighborhood towns for traces of the bandits, but no arrests have been made.

In their haste to escape the fumes the robbers left their burglar tools behind.

Sexton Defies Ghosts in Old Mausoleum

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—"Old Ike," a negro sexton in a Tuscaloosa cemetery, was not superstitious. That seems to have been proved with the recent demolition of a mausoleum here.

When the vault fell into decay, weird happenings were related, and it was pointed out as a place where ghosts congregated. It was shunned except by "Old Ike," the only name by which he was known.

There was a hole in the wall, and when Ike discovered it, he decided to utilize the place for storing his pick, shovel and other tools. He is credited with saying that he never lost a tool.

SWEAR OFF TOBACCO

"No-To-Bac" has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a cigarette, cigar, pipe or for a chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead, to help relieve that awful desire. Shortly the habit may be completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's so easy, so simple. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form, your druggist will refund your money without question.

Good Time to Be Born.

Persons born between January 20 and February 19, when the sun is in Aquarius, are broad judges of human nature and can be relied upon to estimate a person's honesty almost at first sight. They are good "mixers," lovers of public entertainments, theaters, fairs, public ceremonies, absorb information easily and from every possible source. They are clever at mimicry, and see the funny side of life. Are well adapted to mercantile or political pursuits.

Ancient Crane.

The oldest crane in the world is located in Trier, on the River Mosel, in France. A preserved record shows it was built in 1413. It is still in use.

THE DRINK

By FRANCES E. GOODRICH.

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Among his friends on the force he was known as Big Arm John, and the reason was perfectly obvious when one looked at the great muscles swelling beneath the sleeves of his uniform.

When he went away to France he carried with him the treasure of a girl's love, and the sweetness of realization came to him when he returned and made Margaret his wife.

They found a modest little flat near the station and settled down to what seemed a life of quiet happiness, but always in Margaret's heart was the shadow of coming evil.

At times John noticed her abstraction and when he asked the reason she would tell him of her feeling, and he would laugh and kiss her, and tell her she needed more of the outdoor world and sunshine.

"You must take a long walk each day, dear, and while you are out just think of all the nice things you can, preferably of all the many virtues of a man called Big Arm John," and he winked at her slyly and swung her up to the ceiling as though she were a baby.

Then ensued a scene that would have done credit to a nursery, and finally when John went away he left a flushed and laughing wife.

For some weeks that part of the city had been the center of operations of a party of bootleggers, and the police had been baffled for the time.

That memorable afternoon John hurried home to let her know that he would be away all night.

The police had received news that a few miles from the city there was a case worth investigating, and John was one of those designated for the work. He and Herndon, in plain clothes, started out in their speedy little car, just as it began to grow dusk. They had been pals in France.

"I tell you, John, I'm getting sick of this business. This crime stuff is getting on my nerves. Two years of scrapping in France and now chasing bootleggers here. Bah, laugh if you want to, but I'm thinking seriously of taking the wife and kiddies and settling down on a little farm somewhere."

John didn't laugh. Instead, he clapped a hand on his companion's shoulder.

"Don't know but you're right, old scout. Sometimes I get fed up on this stuff myself, but the pay's good, and I have to save something. Margaret wants me to give it up. She seems afraid all the time something will happen to me. Funny they worry so much, isn't it?"

"Mine is that way, too. Imagine I'm killed about forty times a day. Well, it's pretty nice to know they think so much of us, I'll say."

"Say, Herndon," he broke out suddenly. "Pull up on that car ahead. Looks rather suspicious somehow."

Herndon pushed on speed and the little car pulled up close beside the larger one. There were two men in it, a chauffeur in livery, and a man about thirty years of age, evidently well to do.

As the car with the officers came abreast the stranger rose in his seat, and drawing a small black bottle from his pocket raised it to his lips. Then looking towards them he made a mock flourish with the flask, and said in clear, ringing tones, "We who are about to die, salute you."

"Stop!" shouted the officer, and springing clear from his own car landed on the running board of the other.

Herndon, meanwhile, by a skilful maneuver, brought his car directly across the road. John was now in the seat with the stranger, and grasping the hand with the flask demanded to know its contents, showing his badge of authority meanwhile.

"My dear fellow, why should you wish to know what my precious bottle holds? If but this glass were clear you would see the wonderful golden light of the liquid within. Surely you would not deny me the privilege of being myself in its hidden wonders. Don't you remember Omar's words: "Why, be this juice the growth of God, who dare blaspheme the twisted tendril as a snare?"

A blessing, we should use it, should we not? And if a curse, why, then, who set it there?"

"I don't know who Omar is, and I don't care, but I do want to know what is in that bottle, and if you won't tell me I'll find out."

"It smells like liquor, but it's a queer smell, too. Guess I'll have to take a taste and make certain." John had turned to Herndon as he spoke, and raising the flask to his lips tasted of it.

"Well, you would do it, you know," groaned the man in the car. "You have taken my golden release and while you go free my body must still wear its fetters."

While he spoke John looked at him with a queer, dazed expression in his eyes. A strange sagging appeared in his limbs and a slight twitching in his muscles.

"What was it?" he gasped.

"Poison," came the one word, and as he spoke the officer crumpled at the stranger's feet, his great bulk writhing in agony.

With a shriek of rage Herndon leaped into the car and raised the foot of his friend in his arms.

NOVEL SUITS FOR SPRING

Many of the style features that distinguish this season's suits are attractively combined in the trim model, with its straight-line silhouette, that invites study here. Beginning with this uprightness of line it adds the flaring sleeve, the odd management of pockets, simplicity and cleverness in its decoration to appeal to the woman who likes smart suits that follow new styles in a conservative way. The very simplest of embroidery is used on it but it is unusually effective—especially where it defines the arm's eye.

GEORGETTE REMAINS

Designers have been generous in the variety of beautiful blouses with which they welcome summer. Many of them are made of georgette in two colors like the lovely model shown above. Nothing equals georgette for daintiness and it remains an unrivaled favorite whose cause is furthered by this new arrival. Imagine it in navy blue with neck, sleeves and peplum bordered with tangerine. Needlework marks the borders in squares and a little embroidery finds a place on them. The girle is of blue ribbon.

ASPIRIN

Name "Bayer" on Genuine

Beware! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Take Aspirin only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacturing of Monoacetic diester of Salicylic acid. (adv)

Cedar Hen Nests.

The problem of keeping the hen's nest free from insects has been approached from a new angle by a farmer who is constructing nests for his hens out of cedar bark. Bugs, as every housewife knows, strongly object to cedar. For this purpose the bark is shredded and the buds of the tree included with it.

Encourages Infection.

Dr. Eric Pritchard suggests in the Practitioner (London) that eating too much carbohydrate material makes persons susceptible to infectious diseases. This is important to mothers of young children, as it means that they should restrict the quantity of starchy and sugary foods that their offspring eat.

Limitations.

As a general thing, when it comes up that a woman has to ask a man to guess her age she expects him to be at least a gentleman.—Dallas News.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine
Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a Tonic and Blood Purifier, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions. All druggists. RUN-DOWN, WEAK

Strasburg, Va.—"Some years ago I was in poor health, was in a run-down, weakened condition. Our home doctor could do me no good and I felt discouraged. My husband said to me, 'Why don't you quit doctoring with these doctors and try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription?' I did so, with wonderful results before the first bottle was finished. I used three bottles, also the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and have been healthy ever since. I can highly recommend these medicines to all who need them."—MRS. S. C. FEELY.

STYLISH AND PRACTICAL

In measuring the most valuable attributes of any garment, feminine judgment is apt to think at least as highly of style as of utility. If one or the other must be sacrificed—it is not style, and it is a happy circumstance when both are found artfully combined. This is the case with the handsome utility coat shown in the picture. It is long and full, with dolman sleeves and deep yoke that suggests a cape. The collar is ample and may be buttoned up about the throat. The material is a soft but loosely woven pile fabric, light in weight, but cozy, and style of this coat places it in the distinguished class where there are few that are so practical.

YOUTH MEETS SPRING

When youth and springtime meet in the mind of the designer of millinery we are presented with such conceptions as those in the group of hats shown above. One of the new shiny fabrics makes the draped turban with its audacious drooping bow at the right side. Knife-plaited ribbon is responsible for the cheerful hat in rose color that looks as if it might be made of sea shells at the right. The odd and dashing shape at the left has a satin brim and fancy braid crown with a cluster that comprises fruits, flowers and foliage posed against it. The wide-brimmed braid hat boasts of lovely lines not interfered with by a rosette and ends of satin ribbon posed at the side. These are only four among the myriads of hats made to grace the heads of young women, but from them may be gathered something of the vivacity and the general brightness of new shapes and materials for spring.

FASHION'S TREND IN SUITS

The procession of suits for spring shows the trend of fashion in four directions with many versions of the boxcoat in the lead. Then come the straightline, bloused and sashed models, like that shown in the picture, followed by others. Styles are determined by coats and skirts are plain. This suit has reduced its lines and trimmings to the last degree of simplicity and has, therefore, a new smartness of its own. The sash of wide black satin ribbon, however, is gathered in at the ends and finished with very handsome silk tassels. These bloused and sashed suits are youthful looking and have a chic simplicity approved with much fervor just now.

JOY BROUGHT INTO HOME

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Restoring Mrs. Benz to Health

Altoona, Pa.—"I am writing to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. We have had six children die almost at birth. From one hour to nineteen days is all they have lived. As I was going to have another, I took a dozen bottles of your Vegetable Compound and I can say that it is the greatest medicine on earth, for this baby is now four months old and a healthier baby you would not want. I am sending you a picture of her. Everybody says, 'That is some healthy looking baby.' You have my consent to show this letter."—Mrs. C. W. BENZ, 181 3rd Ave., Altoona, Pa.

No woman can realize the joy and happiness this healthy babe brought into the home of Mrs. Benz, unless they have had a like experience.

Every woman who suffers from any ailments peculiar to her sex, as indicated by backaches, headaches, bearing-down pains, irregularities, nervousness and "the blues" should not rest until they have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

OF SHEPHERDS CHECK

One of the best of this season's separate skirts is presented here and it pleases every one who loves neat and crisp tailored clothes. It is made of a material that has a stripe of shepherd's check alternating with one of black with a white line through it. Box plaits almost conceal the black stripes.

ARE YOU RHEUMATIC?

Many Pangs That Pass for Rheumatism Are Really Due to Weak Kidneys

Is it rheumatism? Not every pain is. Weak kidneys let uric acid collect. Uric acid causes many queer pains. In the thigh it's sciatica; In the back, lumbago; In the nerves, neuritis. Gout, gravel, dropsy are uric troubles.

When you suspect the kidneys use Doan's Kidney Pills—

The home-recommended remedy. Paris testimony is the best proof. Ask your neighbor.

Read this Paris woman's story: Mrs. J. N. Reynolds, 255 Winchester street, says: "I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to do me more good than any remedy I have ever used and I recommend them highly. I suffered from rheumatic pains and kidney trouble. I could always tell when the weather was going to change, as my limbs would become very painful. I would become dizzy especially when I first got up in the morning. My kidneys were not acting regularly, either. I was not long in getting relief after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and felt better in every way after using them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Reynolds had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)

Tattoo Marks.

Although tattoo marks generally are asserted to be indelible if produced by the insertion of some carbonaceous matter, it is said they will disappear if first well rubbed with a salve of pure acetic acid and lard, then with a solution of potash, and finally with hydrochloric acid. It would be advisable to consult a skin specialist.

Too Much "No, No."

Ned, visiting at grandpa's, wandered from his mother's room into that of his aunt, and presently had to be re-proved for meddling. Looking sadly at his aunt, he remarked: "Mamma, no, no! Aunt Edie, no, no!" and his repentant aunt had to give him a hug and find him something to play with.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church held an all-day meeting at the parsonage Wednesday. Quite a number were present. The meeting was interesting and a delightful lunch was served at noon.

—The Community Revival which opened at the Methodist church, Sunday, and is conducted by Evangelists James B. Kendall and Lon D. Parker gives promise of big results. A large audience was in attendance at the Monday evening services. Rev. Kendall's subject was "Fish," taking for his text that passage of scripture where Christ said to his disciples "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men." Cottage prayer meetings were organized Monday night, and the town was divided into four districts. Beginning with Wednesday, prayer meetings will be held in some home in each of these districts every morning.

—The revival meeting at the Methodist Church, South, under the leadership of Evangelists Kendall and Parker started off in fine shape Sunday. Evangelist James B. Kendall, though small of body, is a man of great power. He preaches like the world is on fire, and that lost men and women must be saved, and at once. Kendall is intensely in earnest and his sermons are direct and pungent, full of the real gospel. From the very beginning of his sermon he holds the attention of his audience, and although he rarely preaches over thirty-five or forty minutes, yet during that time he deals out great sledge-hammer blows against sin. The big crowd Sunday night thoroughly enjoyed his sermons on "How Satan Hinders Revivals." Come out and hear Kendall. Lon D. Parker, the gospel singer from Emporia, Kansas, is a good, running mate for Kendall. He knows how to sing the gospel, and how to get other people to sing. Parker is a converted business man. He was captain of a great Kansas gospel team, which won hundreds of souls for the Master. He is an evangelist as well as singer, and has conducted successful meetings of his own. He will give special talks to men and women, and in the schools while at Millersburg. A booster choir of boys and girls will be organized next Sunday at 2 p. m., and they will put on a program each Saturday night of the meeting. Beside the morning and evening services, Sunday, April 10th, there will be two special services at 3 p. m. Evangelist Kendall will give his great lecture, "Forbidden Fruit," to women and girls only at the Methodist church, and at the same hour Song Leader Parker will preach to men and boys only at the Presbyterian church. His subject will be "A Strong Quitter." It is "an honest to goodness talk to men" by a business man. Services every night, except Monday, "Everybody Going."

RELIGIOUS.

—An innovation in religious advertising is to be seen in Winchester, Sunday, April 17, when a real moving picture show is to be put on at the Methodist church. The film, which consists of three reels, depicts the various Methodist colleges of the South, their accomplishments and purposes. Phases of the Wesleyan College work will be shown.

—Large numbers are hearing Mr. Fox and the impressive singer, Mr. Schofield, both morning and evening services. The sermons this week are especially to church members, emphasizing their responsibility as soul winners and showing through Christian example and interest in the unsaved their love for God. The subject Tuesday morning was "Prayer," from the text, "Teach Us To Pray," the Christian's great blessing and privilege. Mr. Schofield sang feelingly the sweet gospel song, "Somebody Did a Golden Deed; Was That Somebody You." At night the solo, "Weighed In the Balance and Found Wanting," was followed by the sermon from the text, "Prepare to Meet Thy God." Every body must prepare to meet God; whether our lives are lived for Heaven or Hell. Accept Christ and live for Heaven; reject Christ and live for Hell. Wednesday morning the solo, "Somebody Knows; 'Tis Jesus," was followed by the sermon on the text, "He That Wineth Souls Is Wise," and is a command to the Christian. Mr. Schofield's singing is a great feature of the meeting. Everyone is invited to come and hear the singing; stay and hear the preaching. There have been 18 confessions so far.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

—The drive for the budget of the church will be made Sunday afternoon. All the members of the church are requested to remain at home until the canvassers can visit them. The budget for this year calls for $11,500, $6,500 for local expenses, and $5,000 for the benevolent causes of the church. Report of the drive will be made at the evening service Sunday.

Morning subject, "The Pentecost of Calamity." At the evening service the pastor will continue the series of talks on "Local Characters." Heretofore the people under discussion have been rather disagreeable citizens. Sunday night one of the rather likeable persons will be presented, "The Enthusiast." One of the features of the evening service is the gospel singing. A cordial invitation is given to all to join in the singing, and to attend the services of the church. Hours of Sunday School 9:30 a. m., preaching at 10:55 a. m., and 7:30 p. m.

MATRIMONIAL.

OFFUTT—THOMPSON

—Forrest B. Thompson, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Mary Stuart Offutt, of Cynthia, were married in this city Wednesday morning at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. W. E. Ellis, pastor of the Paris Christian church. They left after the ceremony for Louisville, where they will visit friends, and from there to their home in Los Angeles.

BRANNON—CANAN

—Miss Bernadette Brannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Brannon, of Lexington, formerly of Paris, and Mr. James Canan, of Georgetown, were married at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Peter's Catholic church, in Lexington, the Rev. Father William T. Punch officiating. Miss Mary Brannon, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Canan's best man was his brother, Mr. Jack Canan, of Georgetown. The bride and her sister wore suits of dark blue tulle, and their flowers were pink roses and lilies of the valley.

After the wedding there was a breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brannon, about thirty-five relatives and friends being guests. The decorations were in pink and white carnations, and the large white wedding cake was the centerpiece for the table.

Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Canan left for a bridal trip to Buffalo and other points. They will make their home in Lexington.

Among those attending the wedding were the following from Paris: Mr. and Mrs. John F. McCarthy, Misses Elizabeth Gregory, Nora Rourke, Nellie Rourke, Elizabeth Tooley, Mr. James O'Connell.

VICTOR BRADLEY ANNOUNCES FOR RE-ELECTION

—Victor A. Bradley, of Georgetown, has announced his candidacy for re-election as Commonwealth's Attorney for the Fourteenth Judicial District, composed of Bourbon, Franklin, Scott and Woodford counties.

Mr. Bradley was appointed Commonwealth's Attorney of this district when Robert Franklin resigned the position several years ago, to take up the practice of law with Robert C. Talbott, of Paris. He has made a most enviable record in the office, and no matter who comes out against him, will prove a most formidable contender for re-election.

DEATHS.

WINN.

—James McClure, Sr., of Paris, received a telegram from New York City stating that Stanley Winn, youngest son of Maj. John Winn, had died suddenly in that city. Young Winn had been attending school in Pennsylvania. Maj. John Winn, the young man's father, is a brother of Mrs. James McClure, Sr., and Mrs. D. C. Lisle, of Paris.

The body was interred at West Point Academy, with high military honors. Cadet Winn's father, Col. John Winn, who is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas, was a graduate of West Point and was for several years a military instructor there.

STEWART

—James T. Stewart, aged seventy-three, a former resident of Paris, died at the Eastern Kentucky Hospital for the Insane, at Lexington, Tuesday night, after a long illness, due to physical infirmities.

Mr. Stewart is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Sallie Southward, Lexington; Mrs. A. Parker, Carlisle; Mrs. Ida Taylor, Frankfort, Mo., and four sons, A. Stewart, in the U. S. Army service, W. T. Stewart, Charles Stewart and Richard Stewart, all of Paris.

The body was brought to the home of his son, W. T. Stewart, in this city. The funeral was held at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, with services conducted by Rev. Arthur Fox, pastor of the Baptist church. The interment took place in the Paris Cemetery.

MOORE

—William L. Moore, formerly a resident of the North Middletown vicinity, died at his home in Orange, Va., after a short illness of heart trouble. The news was received here in a telegram to his niece, Miss Sena Rion.

Mr. Moore was a son of the late Rev. James Moore, of North Middletown. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Lizzie Terrill, of Orange, Va.; four sisters, Mrs. J. J. Salmon and Mrs. Thomas Hall, of Winchester; Mrs. Andrew Payne and Mrs. Tollie Talbott, of Lexington; three brothers, Rev. C. A. Brown, of Brownwood, Texas, Rev. S. B. Moore, of Holden, Mo., and Rev. A. R. Moore, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. William Rion and Prof. George Moore, sister and brother of Mr. Moore, died in Paris several years ago. His brother-in-law, William Rion, Sr., died suddenly at his home in this city several days ago.

The funeral was held at the family home in Orange, Va., Tuesday, followed by burial on the family lot in the Orange Cemetery.

EIGHTH STREET COTTAGE DESTROYED BY FIRE

A small frame cottage on Eighth street, occupied by Maria Porter, colored, was destroyed by fire at an early hour Wednesday morning. An alarm from Box 24, at three o'clock Wednesday morning brought the department to the scene. The blaze originated from a defective flue in the kitchen and had been smoldering for several hours before discovered. The fire did $500 damage to the house, and a loss of about $200 to the household effects of the occupants with no insurance. The fire department rendered excellent service in protecting surrounding property.

SADDLE HORSE MEN TO MEET TO-DAY.

Hon. Claude M. Thomas, of Paris, president of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association, left last night for Louisville, to attend the meeting of stockholders of the Association, which is for the purpose of adding some new and active breeders to the list of members.

The stockholders' meeting will be held in the Hotel Henry Watterson at 11:30 o'clock this morning, and will be attended by members from all parts of the country. Mr. Thomas will be one of the principal speakers at the meeting.

Election of officers will be one of the principal items of business coming before the meeting, which will probably consume the remainder of the day. The stockholders will be asked to name conditions for the Kentucky State Fair stake for foals of 1921, and the Futurity stake for foals of 1922. Riding schools will be urged by the stockholders for every live city in the State.

The demand for finished saddle horses is said to be greater than ever. Dealers realizing the serious shortage in finished saddle horses are urging farmers to breed every good mare they own to some high-class saddle sire, as a means for increasing the number of fine saddle horses.

JURY DISAGREES.

In the Bourbon Quarterly Court, Judge George Batterton presiding, the case of Mrs. Nellie Stoker Highland against Henry Mitchell, was tried before a jury of six citizens. Mitchell is a tenant on the farm of Mrs. Highland, near Paris. An effort was made by the plaintiff to eject him from the premises by forcible detainer proceedings. The jury failed to reach a verdict, and was discharged.

HORSES RUN AWAY.

Wednesday afternoon a team of horses attached to Martin Bros.' transfer wagon took fright at something near the corner of Twelfth and Main streets, and ran off. The horses plunged down Main street, the wagon trailing behind in a reckless manner. The frightened team tried to turn into Eighth street, at the corner of Main, but skidded into the corner of Lavin & Connell's plate glass window. The horses were thrown to the ground by the force of the impact, but were not injured. The wagon remained upright. The streets were crowded with vehicles at the time, but the horses made their rapid flight without striking any of them.
